James and Ellen are very happy because they are on holiday this week. They are staying with their grandparents in their village. They are having a lot of fun. Today is Saturday. It's 10 o'clock in the morning and they are walking around the village and looking at all the shops.

It's half past eleven now. They are going to their favourite sweet shop. James doesn't like sweets or bubble gum. He wants to buy some chocolate. Ellen is buying jelly beans and lollipops.

Now it's half past one in the afternoon. The children are hungry. There is a nice market in the village. The children's grandmother is buying some cheese, bread, fruit and vegetables for their lunch. She says, "The kids need to eat a healthy lunch!"
