King of the Beasts: Lions

Lions are the only cats that live in large family groups. They are usually gold, yellow-brown, or light orange in color. While they live in Egypt, there are also lions in India. There aren't any lions in Ukraine.

Lions are very large and heavy. A lion can grow to be one hundred and twenty centimetres (cm) tall. They have got a long tail, which can be one hundred cm long. Inside their powerful jaws, they have thirty teeth to help them eat. Even though they are big, they are fast; a lion can run at eighty kilometres per hour (kph)!

A lion family is called a 'pride'. There are usually five to fifteen lions in a pride. They work together to hunt for food, like zebras and antelopes.
