A DIFFERENT SATURDAY

Oliver loves technology, but he doesn't spend all his free time in front of a screen. On school days, he usually finishes his homework before dinner. After that, he sometimes plays a computer game with his cousin, Max. Oliver's parents don't allow him to use his phone during meals, so he leaves it in his bedroom when the family eats together.

This Saturday is different. Oliver and Max are at Oliver's house because they are preparing a presentation about animals for school. Max is searching for photographs on the internet, while Oliver is writing interesting facts on his laptop. They aren't playing games because they need to finish their project before Monday. Oliver's little sister, Mia, usually watches cartoons on Saturday mornings. Today, however, she is sitting at the kitchen table and drawing pictures of wild animals to help the boys. Their parents are making lunch, and nobody is using a phone!
